502 Optical Cable Splicing

Overview

Sumitomo T-502S Elite Active Clad Aligning Splicer (SUM-T502S), designed for installers terminating in the last mile, with Nano Tune Technology to help reduce re-works. This is a small handheld style unit which comes with a useful splice table and neck strap so can be used with. With new features and new technologies, the Q502S fusion splicer offers improved performance, reliability, and user experience. The Q502S series maintains SEL's industry-leading features, including a world class light and compact frame, quick splicing, and environmental durability. The Q502S is.
