Choosing the Right Switch

Linear switches: Smooth keystrokes, ideal for gaming and fast typing. Examples: Cherry MX Speed Silver, Gateron Yellows. Tactile switches: Provide a noticeable bump without noise, great for typing.

Examples: Gazzew Boba U4T, Zealio V2. Clicky switches: Audible click with tactile feedback, preferred for typing enthusiasts. Examples: Kailh Box White Pro, HMX Xinhai.

Considerations: Actuation force, travel distance, sound profile, and personal preference are key. Gamers often prefer shorter actuation and linear switches, while typists may enjoy tactile or clicky switches for feedback and typing comfort. By matching your switch type to your primary use—gaming, typing, or quiet office work—you can optimize both performance and comfort.
